

HOW IT WORKS.

Four steps, two to five days, revisions included. Here is exactly what happens after you place the order — and what I need from you to start.

01

You send the brief

The product, who it's for, and the one thing the video has to land. A link to your best-performing ad tells me more than a style guide does.

02

I send the script first

Before I film, you get the full script to approve — opening line to CTA. Changing a sentence at this stage is cheap; reshooting a day is not.

03

I film and edit

Real locations, real product in hand, no stock. Shot, cut, captioned, graded and mixed by me — the same person you've been talking to.

04

You get a finished file

A ready-to-post 9:16 video on the agreed date, with your revision round included and nothing left for your team to fix.

● WHAT I NEED FROM YOU

- ☐ The product itself — or a demo account, for apps and software
- ☐ Who it's for, in one sentence
- ☐ The one claim that must be said out loud
- ☐ Anything you're not allowed to claim (legal, medical, regional)
- ☐ Logo file and brand colours, if you want them on screen
- ☐ The handle or link the CTA should point to

● DELIVERY

WHAT LANDS IN YOUR INBOX.

One finished file per video, plus a caption-free version so your team can re-title it for another market without coming back to me.

● BEFORE YOU ORDER

Do you need me to ship the product?

For physical products, yes — I film with the real item, never with stock or renders. For apps and software a demo account is enough.

Can I run it as a paid ad?

Base packages cover organic posting. Paid-ads usage is the +$40 add-on, or already included for 12 months in Premium.

What if I don't like the hook?

You approve the script before I film, so that conversation happens while it's still free. Revisions are for the edit, not for rescuing a bad brief.

Can you shoot my script instead?

Yes. Send it and I'll flag anything likely to underperform before we film — then shoot it your way.
